School Rules

Our school is our common workplace, where we all spend a lot of time together and wish to get along well. We therefore have agreements to enable and promote a pleasant coexistence in our school:

- WE treat each other with respect, kindness, politeness and fairness. That is why we greet each other and say PLEASE and THANK YOU.
- WE see cultural diversity as an enrichment.
- WE reject violence in all forms (both physical and psychological) and show civil courage.
- WE treat all objects, the materials provided and the school building with care.
- WE pay attention to order and cleanliness inside and outside the school building.
- Chewing gum is only permitted after consultation with the respective teacher to support concentration in SA.
- Because water helps me to think, I drink as much water as possible during the school day and at school events.
- Valuables, cell phones and electronic devices are kept in the locker for safekeeping.
- Without exception, I refrain from taking items with me that could endanger my health and safety.
- The school is my workplace; I therefore dress appropriately. Daily personal hygiene is a matter of course for me.
- As a pupil, I wear slippers throughout the school building.
- As a pupil, I remain in the school building for the entire duration of the lesson (this also applies to free periods and the lunch break).
- I use the breaks to relax and prepare my teaching materials for the next lesson.
- I spend the short break in the classroom, during the long break I can also use the assembly hall or, if the weather is fine, the schoolyard.
- In digital meetings and digital communication, I pay attention to the appropriate netiquette*.
- I am punctual in class.

Netiquette* refers to rules of conduct in electronic communication. It is a combination of Net (as an abbreviation for Internet) and etiquette.
